

Many Minnesotans rely on mainstream media to keep them informed. Without a diverse media, we are in danger of losing the voice of those that have different views.